DARING ROBBERS

Stop a Train Near St. Louis and Rob the Express Car of Over $13,000.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 1.—One of the most daring train robberies that have occurred for years was perpetrated on the St. Louis and San Francisco road, almost within the limits of St. Louis, last night. When passenger train No. 4 on that road left the depot last night at 8.25 o'clock it was just twenty-five minutes late. The limits of the city had been passed and the engineer was just preparing to make up for lost time when three men, who had boarded the train at Old Orchard, climbed over the water tank and covered the fireman and engineer with revolvers. The engineer was ordered to stop the train near Glendale, and as an additional inducement to him to obey orders, three men who were in ambush at that point, opened fire on the train with rifles, but whether they succeeded in wounding any one has not been learned. When the train had been brought to a stand-still the engineer and fireman were ordered down from the cab, and after detailing one of the lot to keep guard over them, the other [illegible] men started back for the express car, in which was the safe of the Adams Express company, containing about $13,000. Messenger Malreton, who was in charge of the car, had observed the slacking up of the train and had opened the door to see what the matter was. Suspecting that something was wrong, and becoming suspicious of the men he saw advancing toward him, he hurriedly closed and secured the door just as the men reached it. The robbers first tried to induce him to open it, and failing tried to pry it open, but the stout door foiled all their efforts and after spending about ten minutes in this work they put a charge of dynamite under the door and blew it open. As soon as the door was broken the four men leaped in. Messenger Malreton made a brave resistance, but the robbers turned on him and after beating him into a condition of insensity with the butts of their revolvers, began operations of the safe. This did not long resist their attacks, and after rifling it of its contents the guard was called off the engineer and fireman, and the sextet of desperadoes took to the woods. The men were all masked and had evidently planned their work well, as each one seemed to know what to do and but few words were spoken during the entire operation. Besides rifling the safe of the express company, it is said the robbers opened several bags of registered mail matter in the car and selecting what appeared to be of value carried it off. About five years ago a train was held up and robbed at about the same place near Glendale.

A BRIDGE FELL.

Three Men Killed and Others Fatally Injured.

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 1.—Saturday one of the western spans of the great northern bridge across the north fork of the river six miles from Columbia Falls, fell carrying with it nine men, three of whom are dead and six injured, three fatally. The killed are, Hugh Brantley, John Pooley and Patrick Tane. The injured are, Leonard Hemminger, leg and arm broken, head hurt, may die; Neil Stuart, arm and skull fractured, will die; Martin Whalen, head cut and internally injured, recovery doubtful; Peter Gillan, arm and leg broken, head cut; William McAnnally, skull badly fractured, cannot live; David Wymer, leg broken and head cut. The accident was caused by the four large guy rods falling from the top and striking the false work. The framing was nearly completed and only the last span was to be bolted. John Pooley was wheeling the iron rods on to the span with a pawl. The incline to the span was covered with frost and the pawl got unmanageable and went over the side striking the supports of the false work. The entire span of sixty feet went down with a crash. The dead and injured were pinned under huge timbers which, in falling eighty feet were twisted into all shapes. Two of the dead were found in four feet of water under the wreck.

GEN. BUTLER ILL.

His Condition Said to Be Very Serious.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The illness of General Butler is very serious. Every effort has been made to keep the matter secret, but it can now be safely said that the gravest doubts of his recovery are entertained by those in a position to know most about his condition and some of them assert that he will never again be able to leave his house. The general, who is lying at his home in Lowell, took a severe cold a few weeks ago. He has been under the constant care of physicians ever since. He sits up for a while every day and then lies down and tries to sleep. But he gets no better from day to day.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Over Two Hundred School Children Nearly Burned to Death.

NIAGARA, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The factory building connected with the convent of the Sisters of Mercy, two miles north of this city, burned to the ground this morning. There were 200 children sleeping in the building but all got out safely. The structure was a four-story brick. Loss about $40,000.

BREWERY INTERESTS SOLD.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The formal transfer of the Valhalla Brewing company's plant in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Jersey was made yesterday to the United States Brewery company of Chicago. The sale was practically consummated six months ago and the transfer was made at Denver, yesterday for the nominal consideration of $10,000,000. The United States Brewing company, which is an English-American corporation with a capitalization of about $10,000,000, immediately gave a mortgage for $5,000,000 to cover the purchase money. The officers of the United States Brewing company are President, Valhalla, vice president, Leo Ernst, treasurer, Rudolph Brand.

GIRL ABDUCTED.

A Beautiful Young Lady Entered From Her Home.

WARREN, Ind., Dec. 1.—What may turn out to be a highly interesting case of abduction has come to light in this place. Last Wednesday morning Miss Averhill, from Chicago, reached here and immediately began to solicit students to learn painting under a new process. She met with good success, numbering among her students some of the best people in town, among whom was Mrs. Gillet Webb. Thursday morning, while giving Mrs. Webb a lesson, Miss Frankie Morehouse, a young woman who is staying with the Webb family this winter, came home from a visit to the country. Immediately Miss Averhill began offering inducements to Miss Morehouse for the purpose of helping her in the painting business, offering her the agency at Marion, Ind. Miss Morehouse immediately accepted a flattering proposition and they left for Marion. After the two had been gone for some time the friends of the young woman began to suspect that possibly all was not right, whereupon Mr. Webb telephoned to her father, who is a physician, in Portland, and he immediately came here to institute search for his daughter. He went to Marion Sunday, but could not find any trace of the two women. Mr. Morehouse will institute further search.

VIRGINIA'S BONDS.

The British Divide the Holders Into Three Classes.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The Times in its financial article today divides the bondholders of the state of Virginia into three classes. First, those who would accept an early settlement of any kind so they may secure a profit from the bonds, which they bought cheaply. Second, those who are dissatisfied with the present scheme because they paid a higher figure for their bonds. Third, those who will lose by the scheme, but who desire this matter settled so as to facilitate further railway enterprises, etc. The second class is largely in the majority, and if they will only wait patiently and remain firm, they will get better terms, because the business community of Virginia will insist on a settlement.

WELSH'S RETURN.

The Authorities Secure Them at Last.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Dec. 1.—John J. Hallock walked into the Vanderbilt house at 1.20 o'clock this morning carrying in his hand a brown paper package. He handed the package to the clerk on duty with the remark, "Please put this in the safe. It contains Welch's election returns and we want to use them in the morning." Mr. Hallock handed at the desk until he saw the package deposited in the hotel safe, then hurried into the elevator and went up stairs. These are the returns spirited away by Supervisor Welch, and about which there has been so much discussion in connection in the press.

THE MANTONOMAH

Will Remain in American Waters During the Winter.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—It has been decided by the navy department that the double turreted monitor, Mantonomah, which is regarded as one of the most formidable vessels in the navy, shall not leave American waters this winter. Admiral Walker left yesterday for New York. He is on his way to South America to take command of the Boston and will receive instructions while en route regarding his work. In naval and diplomatic circles these facts are regarded as significant. It is thought that all apprehension of further difficulty with Chili is over.

MILL BURNED.

Fire Causes Heavy Loss to a Little Minnesota Town.

OWATONNA, Minn., Dec. 1.—The Owatonna roller mills, owned by H. M. Hasting and J. M. Dimmitry, burned to the ground this morning about 5 o'clock, together with 8,000 bushels of wheat, three cars of flour and several tons of bran and shorts. The fire was caused by a lantern exploding. The loss is $30,000, with no insurance.

A CAR BUILDER DIES SUDDENLY.

WANT OUR HOGS BARRED

Competing German Hog Raisers Claim to Have Discovered Trichinæ in American Pork.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—A number of deputies representing country districts have entered a formal complaint before the budget committee in regard to American pork. They claim that Trichinæ has been recently found in American pork, and they ask that steps be immediately taken to prohibit its importation. Dr. Von Goetticher, the minister of the interior, replying to these complaints of the deputies, said that importation of American pork in the future would be prohibited unless thoroughly inspected in the United States. Dr. Von Boetticher added that after the inspection, if trichinæ were found in American pork the government would be forced to entirely prohibit its importation into Germany. The deputies appeared to be satisfied with this statement, and there seems reason to believe that if the Germans who are hurt by American competition in pork succeed in making out a clear case against the importers of that article of food, that rigorous measures will once more be taken against the United States hog.

KILLED HIS BROTHER.

Jesse Jacobs Uses a Neck Yoke With Deadly Effect.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Dec. 1.—Jesse Jacobs is a murderer, for, like Cain, he has slain his brother. The deed was committed at Boyleston, in this county, and that vicinity is in intense excitement over the crime. On Friday Elsworth Jacobs, the victim, came to this city, and, after drinking and hanging about the saloons, returned home to Boyleston in a reckless state of intoxication. Entering the village store, he found a party of men, one of whom was his brother Jesse, sitting at a table playing jacks. Being refused the privilege of playing, the drunken man playfully began an interference in the game, which resulted in his brother locking him out of the room. At the door he drew a knife and staggered toward Jesse. The latter, retreating, snatched up a wagon neck yoke and felled his brother to the walk. Friends gathered around and picked him up, and Jesse started home with him. However, he took him only as far as the barn, covering him with straw, and leaving him until morning, when a doctor was summoned and pronounced his injuries fatal. He died last night. The murderer was not jailed until today, and he was found weeping bitter tears with the rest of the family circle that clustered about the bedside of the dying man.

ON ITS FEET.

The Westinghouse Company Reorganized on a Sound Basis.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 1.—It is authentically stated that the organization of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company was practically completed last week by the covering into its treasury of $1,000,000 in cash by Messrs. August Belmont & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., and Brayton Ives, in payment for a similar amount of preferred stock, the sale of which they had guaranteed, and by the issue of $2,000,000 of preferred stock in cancellation of a like amount of debt. A year ago the Westinghouse company was so seriously embarrassed that few believed that there could be found a favorable solution of the difficulties.

LOOKS LIKE A STRIKE.

Southern Pacific Employes Assume a Threatening Attitude.

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 1.—It looks as though a strike would be declared on the Southern Pacific system, which will involve a large number of men. The employes demand an increase of wages and a number of conferences have been held with the railroad officials in order to come to some agreement, but nothing has been accomplished. The grievance committee and Chief Conductor Clark and C. R. Wilkinson, of the Order of Railway Trainmen, held another conference with the high officials of the railroad company yesterday, but could not agree. Another meeting will be held today.

NOT VERY ENCOURAGING

As the Outlook for the Welsh Miners This Winter.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The employers have given notice to the Welsh miners that their present contracts will cease at the end of this month, and if work is to be continued beyond that time a material reduction in wages will have to take place. They have asked the miners to appoint a conference committee to see if some arrangement cannot be made whereby operations may be continued during the coming year. The matter is critical, as 100,000 miners are affected by the notice, and should the latter go on a strike, the outlook for the winter would be very gloomy, not only among the miners, but all mill employes in Wales.

STRUCK A RUCK.

The Pequot Stares a Hole in Her Bottom.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The sound freight boat Pequot, belonging to the Providence line, struck on Man-o-war rock in the East river at 9 P. M. this morning and was so badly damaged that it was found necessary to put her ashore on Hunt's beach to prevent her from sinking. The Pequot was bound to this city. There were no passengers on board at the time.

SUFFERING WITH A CANCER.

Prince Victor Afflicted in a Similar Manner to Emperor Frederick.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The queen today paid a visit to her nephew, Prince Victor Ferdinand, of Hohenlohe, who is suffering from an affection similar to the one which caused the death of the late Emperor Frederick, of Germany. Prince Victor, who was born November 11, 1861, is a retired admiral in the navy and governor of Windsor castle. His mother is the queen's half sister, the duchess of Kent, and his father Prince Leiningen. The queen also visited Prince George, of Wales, who continues to improve.

A DISHONEST SON

Brings Knia to Himself but Dishonor and Sickness to His Aged Father.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Warrants were issued late yesterday afternoon by Supreme Judge Pratt, of Brooklyn, for the arrest of Edward M. Field, Daniel A. Lindley, John F. Wierchers and Herman C. Hilmers, composing the firm of Field, Lindley, Wierchers & Co. The warrants were granted on an application and affidavit presented by Lawyer Ward on behalf, it is said, of H. E. Dietz, a creditor of the firm. The affidavit sets up dishonest dealings by the wholesale and fraud. It is no longer doubtful that whole-sale and fraudulent rehypothecation of securities were indulged in. Edward M. Field was the guilty man and his partners are only culpable in so far as they allowed themselves to be deceived. Mr. Wierchers said yesterday that he believed the firm was making money and that Field promised that he would present to each of the partners $500,000 on Christmas, which he claimed the firm had earned. Cyrus W. Field, father of the unlucky speculator, is in an extremely critical condition. The chances are against his recovery. Mr. Field's daughter, Mrs. Lindley, is also very ill, with no hope of recovery.

CYRUS W. FIELD ON HIS BEATHBED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—It is said that Cyrus W. Field is dying. Dr. Fuller stated this morning that there was no change in Mr. Field's condition since last night. Another physician, whose name could not be obtained, is reported as saying that Mr. Field was sinking rapidly. David Dudley Field has been at the house all morning. Mr. M. K. Jessup, who called, said on leaving that Mr. Field was not likely to live the only the day. Mr. Sidney Dillon also called at Mr. Field's house. He, too, said Mr. Field was very low. The arrest of any of the members of the firm of Field, Lindley, Wierchers & Co. has not taken place yet. Sheriff Gunner was seen by a reporter of the United Press this morning. He said that the papers in the case are not yet completed and he was of the opinion that there would be no great hurry about their arrest. Meanwhile evidence is accumulating of the peculiar methods of financering and now victims of the failure are coming to the front. Assignee Gould sent this morning list of the Union Pacific securities, amounting to $1,980,000 all but $1,000,000 of them had been located. Of this whole amount but $41,000 were found and acknowledged to be good delivery by the Union Pacific people, as they had already passed into the hands of third parties.

THE McKINLEY BILL.

The Supreme Court Examines Its Constitutionality.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The question with which the justices of the supreme court interrupted the counsel who were arguing the unconstitutionality of the McKinley bill yesterday are regarded as indicating a hostile attitude on the part of the court to the position assumed by the counsel. Chief Justice Fuller interrupted Wm. Wickham Smith, of New York, to inquire whether there was any proof in the record that his clients had paid out any money on account of the sugar bounty clause of which they complained. Justice Gray, with equal significance, enquired whether the contention was that the whole act was unconstitutional because of this one bounty clause. J. C. Bradley, still more pointedly, asked of Mr. Bliss of Chicago, in respect to the accidental omission of the tobacco rebate clause: "The position, then, is that whenever an enrolling clerk, by accident or by fraud, happens to omit a section of a law, although the law is reported to the president and signed as a law, it is void?" When Mr. Bliss replied in the affirmative it was evident that Justice Bradley did not agree with him.

RIOTING IN DAKOTA.

Railroad Employes Have a Bloody Encounter.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Dec. 1.—The strife between the Burlington and the Fuquant and Elkhorn railroads for right of way through the Spear Fish canon culminated yesterday in a pitched battle with fisticuffing between the graders of the roads, numbering about 50 men. This has been anticipated and more serious trouble was thought to have been in store, as quite a number of arms had been sent to the two forces last night. The sheriff, with a force of deputies, has gone to the scene of the strife to preserve the peace.

A NEW COMMISSIONER ELECTED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—At a meeting of the democratic state committee held at the Hoffman house today, Wm. F. Sheehan was elected a member of the national democratic committee in place of Herman Oelrichs, resigned.

THREE BODIES TAKEN FROM THE RUINS.

MADISONVILLE, Dec. 1.—A dispatch from Blackburn states that three dead bodies have been found in the ruins of the Clayton hotel and two others which collapsed yesterday after a mysterious explosion.

POOR CORA RAPP.

Who Formerly Lived Here, Married a Millionaire, and Is Now Dying, the Victim of an Awful Tragedy.

A tragedy occurred in Brooklyn last week by which a lady, who formerly lived in Fort Wayne, was shot, probably fatally, by a man named Scanlon, who had been acting in the capacity of attendant upon her husband, who is affected with softening of the brain. The fellow took advantage of the woman's helplessness to make improper advances, and when he was driven away he shot her. The New York World devotes seven columns to the affair and wraps around it a romantic story. William Geoffrey Chapman, husband of the woman, had some thing of a checkered existence, as did his parents. They were immensely wealthy and the boy had a passion for the stage. His manner of living was such as finally to bring him to a state of hopeless idiocy. It was at this time that his uncle intervened, nobly by his side, taking care of him with a most tender devotion up to the day of the tragedy. As to the woman, which part of the story will be the most interesting to Fort Wayne people the World says:

There are many pretty towns in Ohio, but none is fairer than Dayton and none has fairer women. Cora Rapp was a belle, the American belle. She died one day, before Cora was old enough to know anything about it. Cora's mother thought it best that the child should go to her aunt, Mrs. Kate Louttit, of Fort Wayne, Ind. To this day the teachers of the Hanna street school, in Fort Wayne, will tell you that there was never a brighter nor more loved pupil. Everybody was certain that she would be spoiled completely.

One day she heard a man playing upon the zither. She must have a zither. It didn't cost much and it wasn't a very good one. After a while she received a $12 zither and was permitted to take lessons. Then her pride was overwhelming. She has a $300 zither now, but she still plays the old one.

Her fame as a zither player spread very rapidly. There are lots of people in Fort Wayne, no doubt, who are willing to take their seldom oath that she is the best zither player that ever lived. Before she was sixteen, she was playing for church socials, benefits and concerts. She was singing too, for she had a very pure and rich alto voice.

When Cora arrived in New York she was a tall, slender, and it would appear very pretty girl. She was not yet seventeen, but she looked older. Some one had told her that Mrs. Robertson kept an excellent boarding house in East Twentieth street. Cora began her New York life there.

Mrs. Louttit, the aunt of the wounded woman, still resides in this city and is the mother of George W. Louttit, the attorney, who was seen today by a Sentinel reporter.

"Yes," he said, "Cora Rapp lived in our family quite a number of years. Our home was then on South Hanna street. She is my first cousin. We have been corresponding at intervals and I am astonished that I have not been apprised of the tragedy. Cora made friends wherever she went and was universally bright and accomplished. She left Fort Wayne in 1881, the day before Garfield was shot. From that time the girl rose to prominence. The article in the World says when it says that Cora first met Chapman in New York. It was at Cincinnati. I should judge that the unlucky husband of my cousin is heir to $1,000,000."

HAD A SICK TIME.

Fort Wayne K. of P. W. Members Initiate a New Lodge at Wabash.

A delegation of the members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of this city went to Wabash yesterday to participate in the institution of a new lodge at that place last evening. They report having had a very enjoyable time. Trinity lodge No. 60, of the A. O. U. W., of Wabash, was instituted with thirty-three charter members, representative business men of Wabash. Officers were elected and installed, and at 12 o'clock, the members and their guests from Fort Wayne, Columbia City and elsewhere were seated to an excellent supper at Albert's restaurant. The Fort Wayne delegation speak highly of the magnificent way in which they were treated and especially of their entertainment at the Meriden club rooms after the exercises were closed and while waiting for the early morning train to bring them home.

The visiting delegates on their way to this city this morning encountered a freight wreck when near Fort Wayne, about one-half mile west of the Monroe crossing, which delayed them for one hour and twenty minutes and they did not arrive in this city until after 8 o'clock. The party numbered twenty. The accommodation took the Columbia City delegation to their homes.

Either, the petting kind, and Albert Ely, the boy acrobat, are great attractions.

TROUBLE BREWING.

New Difficulties Arise in the Settlement of Brazilian Affairs and War is Feared.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Dispatches received here from Brazil state that the outlook there is far from peaceful. Disorder is growing by the official statements. In fact, the situation is characterized in the extreme and serious conflicts between the troops of President Peixoto and the troops of the provinces of Rio Grande do Sul are anticipated. The latter have lapsed into a state of utter insubordination and the cause of trouble. One portion of them is in favor of maintaining the independence of Rio Grande do Sul and another portion is in favor of a return with the United States of Brazil, on the ground that all cause of the ordeal was removed when Marshal Da Fonseca resigned the dictatorship. President Peixoto has not yet given up all hope of bringing order in Brazil generally and particularly in Rio Grande do Sul without an appeal to arms, but it is reported that the new president has determined that should peaceful arguments fail he will appeal to the sword and to be are determined to maintain the integrity of the United States of Brazil.

OUT OF FUEL.

The Coal Famine Causing Much Distress in Northern Indiana.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Dec. 1.—The coal miners' strike is being very perceptibly felt in this section of the state. Road mills have been reported in consequence. In many of the little towns and villages adjoining the line of the Monon railroad, coal consumers have been compelled to resort to corn cobs for fuel. Coal heretofore has been burned very extensively owing to the scarcity of timber in this part of the state. Now the little coal in the market is held at fabulous prices and manufacturers suffer greatly.

ASLEEP IN CLOVER.

Social Colonel Geary Cleverly Captures the People of Grand Rapids.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Never in the history of this town has there been such a crowd in a museum as thronged Colonel Geary's new museum tonight. Colonel Geary entered the field almost a stranger, and with his usual daring spirit took hold of a house in which all other had failed, but he was tendered a genuine ovation by the people of this city.

Railroad department Y. M. C. A. meeting this evening at the residence of Mr. E. H. Dorrbilon No. 23 Poplar street.

Huntington is objecting to the quality of water furnished by the waterworks of that town. Unlike the quality of mercy, it is said to be unstrained.

The Huntington Herald says: Miss Mamie Kinsley, of Upper Sandusky, O., who is attending college at Fort Wayne, Ind., spent Saturday and Sunday in this city, the guest of Miss Cora Stults, of the second ward.

Mrs. Jane A. Small, widow of the late war veteran, Burlington Small, died this morning at her home, 178 Huron street of typhoid malarial fever. The husband of the deceased died at Chicago two weeks ago and was buried in New Haven.

The State of Maine has at last another controversy in its hands that has nothing to do with the drink habit. The attack made by Miss Frances E. Willard on the cranberry habit has proven a bone of contention. One of the leading papers of the State has come out boldly in appeal of Miss Willard's dictum; but another, published some what nearer the source of the cure supply, denounces it in round terms. The denunciation is chiefly put on the ground of the inherent right of the citizen, and especially of the citizen, to chew what she pleases; but as the doctrine pulitzer directly against the prevailing creed in Maine on the subject of pets and freedom, we are inclined to attribute the decision to sympathy with the producers of guns for the market. Whatever the ground, sentimental or commercial, the sufferer is heard, we should say, to be a warm one, and to endure had before it is terminated the people of the entire State, from Mars to Bangor, will be in the Andiscoscoggin.

THEOSOPHY'S CHAMPION.

Annie Besant Arrives in Fort Wayne to Deliver One of Four Lectures in America.

Annie Besant, the leader of Theosophy or a new religion, arrived in the city this morning from Philadelphia, where she delivered a lecture last evening. The great champion of this new belief was driven in a cab, unaccompanied to the Randall hotel, where a Sentinel reporter sought her, after a vain search, the hour designated for her reception to reporters. The newspaper man was promptly accorded an interview and upon being ushered into the parlors, found the distinguished lady herself, but not alone. Colonel Ingersoll began to drop in, and among those in the room the reporter noticed Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, who has been chosen to open all the lectures at the temple this evening. Dr. and Mrs. [illegible] Henry Cohen and others, adherents of Theosophy. Mrs. Besant, in answer to a question, said: "I arrived in New York Saturday 27 last from London, needed rest and, as I wanted to consult some of the Theosophists here, I combined the rest of a sea voyage with the business that I wanted to transact. I lecture last Sunday and the preceding one in New York city to large audiences. I had planned to give only four lectures, which I believe I will not change."

Mrs. Besant, when asked, to talk upon the subject most pertinent to her visit said that she upheld Theosophy, that she believed in incarnation, and that Mme. Blavatsky, when reincarnated, will have the power to communicate with other people.

"Let true that your view [illegible] rapidly have recently changed" asked the reporter.

"It is not true," said [illegible] although I believe a state [illegible] effect has been printed [illegible] think, out of the fact that [illegible] weeks ago I paid a visit to [illegible] Mrs. Willberforce, and some [illegible] seem to have imagined that [illegible] mean that I had been converted [illegible] Episcopalian. I may say that [illegible] Willberforce is much more [illegible] to be a Theosophist than I am to join the church. I went to see her because she was an old friend and he wanted to learn something about our doctrines. My own convictions have not varied."

Mrs. Besant is a pleasant and [illegible] conversationalist, whose delivery [illegible] speech is deliberate. Her features are [illegible] made striking by the smile that illuminates her countenance and the large blue eyes that look softly and [illegible] on those who [illegible] may be in conversation [illegible] leader that [illegible] since [illegible] modestly [illegible] After a short [illegible] in this [illegible] Mrs. Besant will sail for home [illegible] 9. America will probably [illegible] this once again, for she [illegible] contemplates making a [illegible] through the United States [illegible] coming year.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road is contemplating the construction of a spur, eleven miles long to the Glenmont stone quarries.

The total number of men employed on the railways of the United States is 749,301, being an increase of 17,695 over the number employed in 1891. The average number of men employed per 100 miles of line on all roads is 146

Dr. Miller dressed the wounds and the young man is resting comfortable considering the extent of his injuries

On the Erie and Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad are five brothers named McDowell all conductors. There are also five brothers named Fitzmaurice, all engineers. There are also five Petersons, father and four sons; also five Donlins, father and four sons. The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway has among its employes Mr. Falor and eight sons. These instances show how railroading runs in families.

An old railroader says that all switchmen, brakemen and other railroaders who work in the yards should wear rongress shoes. He says that it is a noticeable fact that a man wearing congress shoes hardly ever gets hurt from getting his foot in a frog, for the reason that when caught he can pull his foot out of the shoe in an instant, whereas, if he had on a lace shoe, he could not release himself so readily. There is much truth in this statement.

Augustus Shaw, of Indianapolis, one of the best known railroad roadmasters in the country, has a proposition to submit to congress on the part of the committee designated to investigate and report upon a uniform car coupling, which, it is thought, will guarantee a system for coupling cars that will minimize the danger of handling the same. It has been determined that state legislatures are a failure on this subject, and that general uniformity can only be had through congress

The fastest time ever made by a railroad train between New York and Washington was accomplished Saturday by a special train over the Pennsylvania railroad. The special was composed of a Pullman combination dining car, a parlor car and an observation car. The weight of the three cars aggregated 250,000 pounds, while the locomotive weighed, with its complement of coal and water, 155,000 pounds. The train left New York at 2.10 p. m., and stopped in the station in Washington at 7 p. m. Engines were changed at Gray's Ferry, consuming five minutes, and a stop at Baltimore took up six more. Deducting the eleven minutes lost, the actual running time was four hours, or 240 minutes for 225 miles, thus being an average of fifty seven miles per hour. Some very fast bursts of speed were made on various parts of the line reaching in many instances to the extraordinary rate of seventy-five miles per hour

Daniel Edwards the veritable car inspector has resigned his position with the Pennsylvania company and will spend his declining days in some more peaceful avocation. The intimacies of old age have driven him to this step. He has served the company long and faithfully and his services have been appreciated. Stephen Schallenberger, of the repair department, will succeed Mr. Edwards as foreman of the car inspectors. The appointment falls to a very worthy man

The Madison car works at Madison, Ill., have begun operations. Their first contract is to build 1,000 cars for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road. This company, through Charles Millard has placed a contract for a second thousand cars with the Missouri Car and Foundry company, and through the same agency the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia company has placed a contract with the Missouri Car and Foundry company for 500 cars. Mike Faulkney, late of the Ross works, is foreman of the foundry department of these works. George Threadgill and several other Fort Wayne moulders hold positions under Mr Faulkney

When you would determine the value of a man's character, observe how he spends his leisure moments.

The dress reformers have declared that two garments are enough and the tramp finds himself right in the swim.

Edwin Booth's period of retirement must be nearing its end. The tragedian's name appears very frequently in the papers these days.

The young Emperor of Germany has suffered an accident to his knee which makes it painfully stiff, but as he declines to bend it to anybody it doesn't matter much.

Mr. Bellamy's "Looking Backward," the London Academy tiredly says, is "of an ugliness so gross and a vulgarity so pestilent that it deserved the bonfire and the hangman."

The recent terrible railroad accident in France is said to have been intentionally caused by some fiend in human form. It is easy to believe this after reading the account of the mob which gathered to see the recent executions in Paris. To such people causing a railroad accident involving the death of fifty or a hundred people would be little more than a pastime.

Ed Howe, of the Atchison Globe, takes time enough from his literary labors to observe: "It is proper to take fried chicken in your fingers when you eat it, and to bite the corn off the cob." It is unnecessary to add that an unamiable public will hell with deepest satisfaction the settlement of these much mooted questions. Heretofore there has been considerable doubt about what was just the proper thing to do.

London is becoming alarmed over an estimated influx of aliens of upward of 500 per week, 90 per cent. of whom are destitute. Parliament is to be memorialized to pass some law to regulate and restrict undesirable immigration. But what would London do if it had the cue for alarm that we have? Aliens with the like percentage of destitution are pouring into the United States at the rate of 1,000 a day, and Congress passes laws no more efficacious to keep them out than a sieve is to hold water.

is not the boon contemplated in the chronic, nervous invalid. All that enters startle him, and the unexpected receives purpose him. The British Medical Journal throws more light on the mysteries of jam-making. An inquiring stranger, it says, who was being shown over a British wine manufactory, was struck by several high mounds of crimson dust. These he was told were the refuse of the wine presses in which the juice of raspberries, currants, and other fruit used in the business was extracted for making wine. As it is seldom that anything is wasted in an English factory, an inquiry was made as to the form in which these mounds of dust would reenter the market; the visitor was promptly told that it was disposed of to jam-makers to give the appearance of fruit to the pulp of turnip, vegetable apple, or what not, which forms the basis of the confection. It would seem that almost anything will do to make jam of, as the chemist can produce a flavor to imitate every kind of fruit. It is commonly supposed that orange-peel is picked up in the streets wherewith to make marmalade. Probably this is a slander on the preserve maker; but, according to the report of a case heard this year in a metropolitan police court, rotten oranges in the condition of a "black pulpy substance," and "quite unfit to eat," as the inspector very sapiently remarked, are considered by the owners of the fruit as good enough to be "chopped up for marmalade." Oranges for this "excellent substitute for butter at breakfast," it was shown, cost only one dollar a box, whereas fruit for eating costs three dollars. A disquieting fact, indeed.

"My Daughter's Life
